A Strange Case.

Joe O'Neal arrived here about 11 o'clock last night from Little Humboldt and brings intelligence of a horrible affair. Yesterday morning he arrived at Pat Egan's place, about 15 miles above Richies, on the Little Humboldt, and was horrified to find Egan in convulsions. His head and face were bruised and lacerated; he foamed at the mouth; his eyes appeared to be fixed in their sockets, and he seemed to be in the agonies of death. After a while he recovered consciousness, and, recognizing O'Neal, said, "Joe I'm poisoned." He then said he suspected that a man, with whom he had had some trouble recently, came to his cabin during his absence and put strychnine in his flour or yeast powders. He pointed to a box on which he had written his suspicion and the name of the man he suspected, and that if he died there alone he hoped his friends would not think he had committed suicide. He had been ill for 36 hours at the time O'Neal arrived at his camp and when in convulsions had bruised and torn his face. He had some $1,400 in the cabin and this, in his lucid intervals, he scattered partially hid in the dust in front of the cabin. He told O'Neal where his people lived in Ireland and requested him to dispose of his property, if he died, and send the proceeds to his brother, with the request that he take care of his mother as long as she lived. O'Neal says that he heard on the Little Humboldt that another man, whose name he could not learn, stopped at Egan's, eat dinner and was also poisoned. At the time O'Neal left the cabin yesterday afternoon, Egan appeared much better. He drank a bottle of whisky and eat a plug of tobacco, these being the only remedies at hand, which caused him to vomit quite freely, and hopes were entertained of saving his life. He has resided on the Little Humboldt three or four years, and has some three or four hundred head of cattle and other property worth three or four thousand dollars. The flour, yeast powders and part of a loaf of bread have been saved and will probably be analyzed. —Silver State Jan. 18th.

How Bismarck Saved the Life of His Groom.—Here is a fresh "personal" of Prince Bismarck. In the Summer of 1842, when 28 years old, and a cavalry officer, he was standing one afternoon with some of his companions on a bridge, when his groom led his horse into the water to drink. Suddenly the horse lost footing, fell, and the groom disappeared. Bismarck immediately threw away his sword, tore of his uniform and sprang into the river to save his servant. He caught him, but the frightened man clung to him with such a grip that he was obliged to go to the bottom before he could get loose. Eventually he saved the groom. For this gallant deed Bismarck received the well known Prussian Rettungsmedaille that one still sees, between so many other stars and order, on his breast. He is very proud of this mark of honor; and once when a distinguished diplomatist asked, with some sarcasm, the meaning of the simple decoration, which at the time was the only one he had, he answered quickly: "I am in the habit of saving people's lives sometimes."

A BELOVED GENERAL.—It is said that General Skobelev is the idol of his soldiers. One afternoon in November, his troops were massed near the encampment, with arms in hand, and with spades to entrench the grounds they were about to take; stretcher-bearers in a group at the rear, a suggestive, but unpleasant sight, a battery of mitrailleuses bundled up like so many human beings, to keep out the damp, and in front of the troops, the little body of picked men, each with his shovel, his rations and plenty of ammunition, who were to make the first rush across, use the bayonet, and then throw it aside for the spade, and endeavor to cover in time to resist the attack of the returning Turks. General Skobelev dismounted and told the men just what he expected of them—that they were not to storm the works of Plevna, but only to turn forward and take the piece of ground they knew perfectly well, in front of the road, and to hold it until they had works thrown up. He cautioned them, as many were young soldiers sent out from the reserves to fill the great gaps in the ranks, not to advance too far, but to mind exactly what the officers told them. He would be with them himself, and would direct the movements personally. As the men passed they all received encouraging words, and they went by smiling at the good natured chaff from the General, who called to them by name, he said, were like those of a Spanish don, and told the musicians they would play a waltz in the new redoubts on the morrow.

Marrying in Fun.

But Repenting in Earnest—A Tripple Wedding in a Colorado Town.

The Denver Tribune of the 11th instant has the following:

The good people of La Veta and vicinity have been considerably exercised of late over a tripple wedding which occurred at that place last Monday night under most peculiar circumstances. F. D. McHolland, E. A. Palmer and another young gentleman whose name has not yet reached Denver, were calling on three young ladies named respectively Kate Lewis, Addie Patterson and Laura Patterson. The conversation ranged upon the general topics of the day for a short while, but they gradually paired off, Mr. McHolland and Miss Lewis occupying one corner of the room, Mr. Palmer and Miss Addie Patterson another, and the third gentleman and Miss Laura Patterson still another. All proceeded merrily. Mr. McHolland gradually got warmed up to his subject and at last exclaimed, during a brief general conversation:

"Wouldn't it be nice for us all to be married?"

"Wouldn't it, now?" said one of the ladies.

"Just the thing," said another gentleman.

"Splendid!" said another lady.

"I'm in for it," said another gentleman.

"Put er thar, pard," said his friend.

"Well, now, this is really growing interesting," from one of the ladies;

"I suppose we'll be married before morning."

"Yes," responded the first speaker, "married, and well of it."

"Shall I go for the doctor?" asked one of the gentlemen.

Chorus—"Yes; make no delay. Let no dust stick to the bottom of your soles. It's a desperate case."

And off he went. "Ain't this fun, though!" queried one girl as the interested messenger was seen to turn the corner. "The jolliest game," said the second.

The messenger flew with the speed of Mercury himself. W. A. Toffelmire was the "doctor" before whom he laid the case. Now, Mr. Toffelmire is a Justice of the Peace, fully authorized by law to solemnize the rite of matrimony. He was at his house waiting for something to turn up. No delay was necessary. He went immediately to the place where he was told his services were required. No license is necessary for marriage in this State. He called the young parties into the middle of the parlor floor. With a few words solemnly spoken and in due form of law, he pronounced the words that made three six, and united forever the destinies of these adventurous couples.

After the ceremony was performed one of the ladies declared that she had never been a party "to such a jolly joke in all her born days."

"Joke!" exclaimed the Judge; "joke! If you think you'll find this a joke, you are very much mistaken. You're tied as tight as Haman was when he was hung." No joke! Horrors! What a time for faints! Blank looks took the place of joyous countenances. The pulses of the young ladies fell below zero from the boiling point in an instant. They had not intended to be married, but they were.

It was a joke, and such a joke as others might laugh at more than those most directly interested. The ladies were young and had not dreamed of matrimony. Besides, it is said that one of them was engaged to a young man who has been digging away in the San Juan mines for the last year with the hope of getting money enough to set up housekeeping. But what is to be done? Divorce is the only alternative. The married people have not lived together, and the gentlemen were required to go to their respective homes Sunday night, before time to retire, as usual. It is understood that proceedings will at once be commenced to obtain papers that will set them free again. What plea will be urged cannot be stated, but in the present condition of the minds of the young ladies, there is no doubt that that of incompatibility of temper would prove a good one.

Mr. McHolland is Deputy Sheriff of Huerfano county; Mr. Palmer is agent for the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad at La Veta, and the other gentleman is connected with a sawmill. The ladies reside at La Veta.

The Porte is now trying to secure an armistice. Should he fail the flag of the prophet will be unfurled, or the English fleet be allowed to pass the Dardanelles.

Mighels Discovers a Mare's Nest.

Mighels of the Carson Appeal sees great danger in store for the American people because President Hayes advocates the old proposition that members of the Cabinet may come down to the House and speak on certain questions relating to their respective departments, thus saving delay of action and expense. It often occurs that by resolution, reports etc., from a particular department are called for, and then comes tedious committee reports, printing of reports, etc., before the House can get the desired information. For example: information in reference to the Indian Bureau is wanted. Instead of the present circuitous and expensive way of obtaining that information, the Secretary of the Interior goes to the House and gives the desired facts etc. in a speech or by answers to questions. He has no vote, and no additional powers are thereby conferred upon the Cabinet officers. The proposition relates merely to a matter of convenience and is only dictated by common sense. The relation of the executive and legislative department of the Government is made more intimate thereby, but none the less distinct. Instead of smacking of royalty it gives the House an additional advantage by a slight deduction from the dignity of the executive branch. The mutual advantages are observed in time, expense, and quicker, stronger, and more intelligent influence of the two departments. The practice has long been observed in the English Government. Members of the Cabinet have seats in the House of Commons. There is no English statesman but who concedes the positive and direct benefits arising from this mutual advantage to both departments. The analogy between the two governments, the United States and England, here ceases. The President and Senate appoint the Cabinet; the Queen and the House of Commons choose the English Cabinet. Our Cabinet cannot dissolve the House of Representatives; the English Cabinet can prorogue and dissolve the House of Commons. We see no obvious objection to the proposition, but, on the contrary, hold it to be wise and politic.

The Pacheco-Wigginton contest is likely to terminate adversely to the former, and solely because a majority of the Committee on Privileges and Elections is Democratic. This party strife is a beautiful thing, because it is likely to secure justice at all times. All Republicans will, no doubt, believe that the majority of this committee are honest in their belief. Given, one fact, a Republican and a Democrat, and the result is, two opinions diametrically opposed.

There are two opinions in the East regarding W. E. Chandler. One calls him a "political hand," while the New Hampshire convention, in presence of William, smilingly termed him "a factious, mischievous fellow." Eastern people are generally very accurate.

A treaty of friendship has just been signed between the United States and the Isle of Samoa. Thus is another danger evaded.

The labor troubles again promise to become exceedingly troublesome to the citizens of San Francisco. Kearney is in jail, and the lesser lights are now on trial in the City Criminal Courts. It is believed, however, that the violent threats made by the chief agitators will be embodied in force by the ignorant followers, and it is deemed necessary to take all possible precaution against an early uprising. The police are now armed for instant service. The militia is kept under arms and eleven companies of U. S. troops are held in readiness to afford assistance if the same is needed. Mayor Bryant has issued a proclamation against the holding of meetings by the agitators, and declares that he will enforce it. An ounce of preventive is worth a pound of cure.

J. L. Board, of Oakland, has been appointed by Governor Irwin Regent of the University of California.

They talk of the Gatling gun as a peace preservative in San Francisco.

Weed on Bland's Silver Bill.

In his letter to the Tribune, Thurlow Weed makes some important points in favor of the Bland Silver Bill. He shows that the old silver dollar was demonetized not because it was worth too little, but because it was worth three per cent. premium in gold; that if England or Germany possessed our vast silver mines they would be sure to make silver a standard of value and foster that metal in every possible way; that it is insanity for us to disparage our own great staple in favor of gold, the great staple of England; that none of the old American bonds were purchased with gold, but that foreign buyers sent this gold to New York and had it converted into greenbacks to buy with, and that the average cost of several hundred million of six per cent. bonds purchased on foreign account, did not exceed fifty per cent. in gold; that Jefferson and Madison directed the mints to discontinue the coinage of the silver dollar because our silver mines were not then developed and we had to purchase all of our silver; that "gold and silver are equally valueless as money without the 'superscription' of the Government, and with that 'superscription' the gold and silver dollars can be made equal in value;" that the proposition to pay the capitalists in gold and the laborer in silver, is pernicious and utterly unjust, and not to be tolerated in practice; that gold fluctuates much more than silver; and finally, that resumption is not possible without the remonetization of silver.—Graphic.

It is also very true that we have an insufficient amount of money in the country. The Government has withdrawn several millions from circulation by redeeming part of her bonds. We then had too small an amount of money. We should have at least one-third more money in circulation to-day than what we now have. Let the remainder of our four per cent. bonds be taken by the people as Secretary Sherman proposes. Raise the price of silver by its remonetization, and the state of the money market in the United States will be vastly improved.

The Country Dance.

Last night the road from Reno to Huffaker's was lined with all sorts of vehicles, taking our fun-loving people out to the grand old-fashioned "hoe down" at Huffaker's Station. Laughter and singing were the fashions on the road, and in the moonlight one might have heard "John Brown," "Old Hundred" and other standard hymns, by voices all unused to vocal effort. Arrived at the battlefield, everything was found to have been arranged in the best of order by the efficient committee and the hall was crowded by dancers from all parts of the valley. Six sets were formed under Pete Evans' supervision as we entered the hall, and we saw in the beaming faces conclusive proof that we had found the right place. There was the young man who balanced to his partner in the most approved big-shoe methods. There was the young lady who danced stiff-legged and perspired profusely. There were the jolly ranchers, their good wives and pretty daughters. There was the young farmer making eyes at "good neighbor Jones' gal," and the young female farmer besieging with sighs and smiles the bachelor brigade. We must not forget the young man who arched his back gently and used it as a sort of cowcatcher to remove obstacles from his track, nor yet the other character who never moved so easily or gracefully as when dancing on someone else's feet. Yes, they were all there, and a better humored crowd we never saw. They were all alive to the occasion and each one enjoyed it in his own honest way, making the stranger welcome and the visitor at ease.

Tom Norcross, M. C. Lake and Al Longley were personally superintending the various departments, and to their efforts and the assistance of the ladies we ascribe the success of the occasion. About the supper we have very little to say. There are some subjects which even our courage will not attempt, and this is one. The chickens were all fattened on fruit cake, the pork fed on baked beans and doughnuts and never drank anything stronger than sweet milk. The cheese was made out of red cow's cream and the mince pies all took Centennial premiums. That's about all we found out at the supper table, as we were quite busy all the time. The party was a complete success. Everybody was well pleased, and the sale of 80 tickets, reported by Tom Norcross, will go far towards paying for the trouble of preparation. We are glad that the undertaking was a success, and heartily commend the hospitality and generosity of the farmers and their good wives as rare traits of which the community and county should be proud.

Knights' Domino Party.

Chas. Stoddard was busily engaged to-day in sending out invitations to the Knights of Pythias Domino party, which will be held on the night of the 30th inst. The price of ticket for lady and gentleman will be $3. The ball will be given at Smith's Academy of Music. Prof. Varney will furnish the music. Those desirous of obtaining a domino costume will apply to Charley Stoddard at the V. & T. R. R. freight office. We understand that the supper for the dancers will be furnished at the hall by the ladies of the Episcopal Church. Gentlemen, bear in mind that one week from next Wednesday there is more enjoyment in store for you. The occasion of this party is the third anniversary of the order of Knights of Pythias in the town of Reno.

District Court.

Saturday, January 19.
In the case of Geo. Alt et al vs. Robert Steele the questions at issue were settled by agreement, the decree of agreement being entered in accordance with statements made by counsel in open court.
Demurrer in the case of W. S. Hobart vs. L. D. Wicks was argued and taken under advisement by the Court.
Roger Johnson's name was ordered entered upon the roll of attorneys who may practice before this Court.
Court adjourned until next Monday.
The street vender again held forth this afternoon to a large audience.

The civil case of Barnett Bros vs. Geo. B. Hill was on trial to-day in the Justice Court.

We understand that quite a large number of ladies and gentlemen will attend Jacobson's soiree this evening at the Opera House.

But two spaces remain in the Morgan deak at Elliott's hotel.

Brookins & Co. have opened a branch store next door to Prescott's dry goods store.

Gen. R. M. Clarke is in town to-day.

J. Quinn has a new sign.

Beautiful moonlight nights and lovely days. When shall we have the storm? Would it be irreverent to say, as did Jeremiah, "Let me talk to Thee of Thy judgments?"

The smoke-stack of the quicksilver works at Steamboat blew down during the high wind of Thursday. The damage was slight, however, and easily repaired.

The weekly Gazette, published last night, was a very interesting number, containing the County Auditor's report and all local news of importance.

Barlow, Richardson, Bragg, Wetherill, Avery and Lamb went to the dance last night and played themselves off for bachelors.

And don't you forget it—the Old Folks' Concert next Wednesday and Thursday evenings at Smith's Academy of Music.

CHANGE OF HANDS.—Mr. J. D. Pollard to-day moves to his ranch near town. From this time forward the Pollard House will be kept as a hotel by Miss Mary Wall, the owner of the premises. Miss Wall will have considerable repairs made, in a word thoroughly refit this popular hotel and place it in excellent condition for the accommodation of the public. She takes possession to-day.

The fishermen at Pyramid Lake go away when the Marshal says go, and when he departs they quietly return to fishing again. A U. S. survey of the Pyramid Lake Reservation will be made, after which the laws will be enforced. These infringements, prompted by self interest, are often the source of ill feeling between the white man and the Indian.

PULPIT ANNOUNCEMENTS.—To-morrow evening Rev. W. C. Gray of the Methodist Church, will preach on the all absorbing question "Is There a Hell?"

At 11 A. M. Revs. Gray and Drahn will exchange pulpits.

This evening Rev. Hubbard, will preach at the Baptist Church on "Lost Opportunities." At 11 A. M. to-morrow, "Henry Ward Beecher Examined." In the evening, "Darwin's Creed a Humbug."

Harry Noyes has made quite an addition to his restaurant. Several neatly furnished private rooms have been added, so that ladies and gentlemen may be served with additional comfort by reason of the convenience which Harry has just furnished.

That great journalist, Sam Bowles, of the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, died on Wednesday night.

The National Gold Medal was awarded to Bradley & Rolofson for the best Photographs in the United States, and the Vienna Medal for the best in the world.

FOR SALE OR RENT.—Mr. Isaacs offers his house and lot on Chestnut street, near Fourth, for sale or rent, on the most reasonable terms. This house contains five hard finished rooms, is well supplied with water, and is a new house, having just been completed. Apply, for particulars, at the store of Gray & Isaac on Virginia street. 1-17tf

WANTED.—One or two young ladies to learn dressmaking. Apply at Mrs. Emerson's, Opposite Odd Fellows' Hall. 1-14tf

WANTED.—Six girls to make gloves are wanted by J. Lipson. Experienced hands preferred. Steady work will be given. Apply at the manufactory, west side of Virginia street, Reno. 1-14tf

For that grand old Winter drink, Tom and Jerry, go to Amos Alt's saloon, east side of Virginia Street, in Coe's building. Brownie is always ready to serve this delicious potato to the thirsty. 12-31tf

The finest lot of chronos ever brought to Reno is now on exhibition at Chas. Knust's. 8-10tf

C. J. Brookins & Co. have pianos and organs for sale or to rent. Terms reasonable. 11-5tf

Hooke & Co.'s Hair Tonic will prevent your hair from falling out, cleanse the scalp of dandruff, and renew its growth. It is a splendid hair dressing. Try it.

Hooke & Co.'s Mystic Balm will prevent or cure chapped hands or face—render them soft as velvet and white as snow. Warranted to cure or money returned.

Hooke & Co.'s Moth and Fleckle Eradicator will beautify the complexion, remove freckles and moth spots—is a harmless and splendid compound for the toilet.

Prescriptions accurately compounded by a scientific Pharmacist—a graduate of twenty years practice—at the lowest rates. HOOKE & CO.'S PHARMACY, Commercial Row. 1-9tf
